Janel grew up in Florida, Washington State, and Alaska, where her parents modeled and encouraged creativity. She graduated from high school in Alaska, Skagit Valley, New York, before finishing her four-year degree at Washington State University. Her process involves working quickly and spontaneously from her own photographic drawings, which she says speaks, life and movement to her paintings. We spoke with her about her work saying she goes out, and now let’s grab our attention these days for is easy to get down, to focus on the negative and there’s enough of that to grab our attention these days for sure) but that isn’t where we want to go, which is why we have to see a brighter future. How?

Well, maybe we should remember other things that have occurred in this time frame in years past, like right now, as it was on this Aug 28th. This is the day that marked the 100th anniversary of the birth of Bird the past, saxophonist Charlie Parker who literally changed the way music was played. Without Parker’s notoriety to him, this will still be here when you are done reading this in fact, look at our local faves The Lonely Forest and their incredible song “Turn Off This Song and Get Out!”. That’s not bad advice and actually another great tune to listen to before your day’s business with this month’s Show Chime.

Also we can recall that 57 years ago yesterday, August 28th 1963, Harriet M. Luther King Jr gave his “I Have A Dream” speech to over 250,000 people of all colors, creation, & classes who gathered together on the mall in Washington DC to call for an end to racism and a new day in America as well as our race relations. Go listen to that speech right now! While the goal is not yet fully accomplished, let the message of hope enter your consciousness; let it mean something to you. Let the music of Bird and your other favorites, let it mean something to you. Then decide how you are going to move forward—without Parker’s music. Let it mean something to you.

Anyone who has ever gotten lost in the liner notes knows that reading the lyrics of a song can give you a whole new perspective on a band or musician. As we experience the music in our town, we can appreciate the wonderful poetry and writing that goes along with it. Here we highlight the words of one song. Each piece of writing featured here has a unique Anacortes connection.

This month we have a song from Pearl Tottenham’s new EP, Spaces to Be In.

“Spaces To Be In is a DIY collection of songs and paintings attempting to translate visual art into music and music into visual art. It is my hope that they create a space for the listener/viewer to be in, and that they enjoy that space.”

Inside

by Pearl Tottenham

Inside, inside, inside, inside is where we’ll be spending our days and our nights for some time
So tuck in dear and turn out the lights
Might as well get comfortable
’cause we’ll be here for a while

I will draw on myself until I am all decorated in the black dots that seep to my skin from my head Oh you could say I have been to sea if you’re counting the rough water that wells up inside of me
Inside, inside, inside, inside
is where we’ll be spending
our days and our nights for some time
So tuck in dear and turn out the lights
Might as well get comfortable
’cause we’ll be here for a while
For a while

It’s the worst, it’s the worst oh what can I say to make anything better, make any of it go away?
So I sit and I panic and play inside, inside, inside.
From Karl Blau:
Children of All Ages
"This collection of songs came blossoming out of years of phone voice notes of 'fun ideas for kids album ideas' that I did my best to pack the entire record with information, be it lyrical, musical or sonic-ly speaking. Information passed down to me that I feel compelled to represent."
